Your current situation

1

Current situation

You are currently missing tooth 11. This is the upper front tooth, which plays a key role in your smile and in biting. The gap is noticeable and affects both appearance and function.

Why this matters

A missing front tooth is more than a cosmetic issue. It can make biting into food difficult and may cause you to avoid smiling. Over time, the gap can also lead to shifting of neighboring teeth, changing your bite and facial balance.

3

If left untreated

FIRST

the gap will remain, making it harder to bite and chew certain foods. You may notice changes in your speech or feel self-conscious about your smile.

THEN

the neighboring teeth may start to drift into the empty space, leading to misalignment. This can make cleaning more difficult and increase the risk of decay or gum issues.

IN THE END

your bite may change noticeably, possibly causing jaw discomfort or further dental problems. The longer the gap stays, the harder it becomes to restore both function and appearance.

4

After 3 years without treatment

FIRST

the bone in the area of the missing tooth begins to shrink. This can make future treatment more complex.

THEN

the shifting of teeth becomes more pronounced. Gaps may appear elsewhere, and your bite may feel less stable.

IN THE END

the imbalance can put extra stress on other teeth, increasing the risk of fractures or wear. Restoring your smile will likely require more extensive work.

5

After 5 years without treatment

FIRST

bone loss in the area is significant, making it much harder to place an implant or other replacement.

THEN

the changes in your bite and jaw position can lead to chronic discomfort or even pain. Other teeth may become loose or damaged.

IN THE END

restoring your smile and function will be a major challenge. The longer you wait, the more complex and costly the solution becomes.

Why a treatment plan matters

Addressing the missing tooth 11 now protects your appearance, your bite, and your long-term dental health. Early action keeps options open and makes restoring your smile simpler and more predictable.
